

It has been wonderful not having annoying unsolicited phone calls. On occasion some get through, mostly during the day. Zero percent getting through would be perfect! Our phone is for our private use, the cost for having one is close to becoming a luxury, and not for invasive marketers.